MAGNIFICENT MASQUERADE

Historic Affair: Some parties are legendary for their glamour and decor, and Cole Porter's 1920s Red and White Ball, held at Palazzo Ca' Rezzonico, in Venice, is one of them. A revival of that gala took place this past February, when the Young Friends of Save Venice held a masked ball at the Metropolitan Club in Manhattan.

High Style: The evening started with cocktails, followed by dinner and dancing in the club's marble foyer. But the highlight was the 350 guests themselves, all decked out in their finest red and white attire. Many also wore festive masks created by Carlos Miele, Linda Fargo, Peter Som and other designers, who had auctioned off their pieces for the event.

Ultimate Cause: The funds raised are helping to restore the private chapel in the nearly 600-year-old Doge's Palace.
